

The Story Of The Beauty - 1/1

Interprété par Destiny's Child.

Chorus: "Please dry your eyes, young girl, don't cry you're beautiful It's not your fault young girl,
don't cry you're beautiful
You're not the one to blame Soon it'll be ok
One day you'll realize your beauty"

It was a Saturday a cold afternoon inside this house there lived a frightened young girl She didn't know what she should do "cause she missed her mother so She was left home alone with her stepfather

--Chorus repeat--
He touched her in places he shouldn't have touched
He did some things to her, that he shouldn't have done
And she ran into her room Paged her mother 911
And the tragedy began with this young girl
She told her mother, her family and friends
No one believed her 'cause before this happened
She was filled with hate and anger Towards her stepfather 'cause he took her mother from her when they married

--Chorus repeat w/ Beyonce echoing-- She looked for her father and the man that she saw thought that all she had to offer was her body No one could figure out why this young girl would live her life in such pain and unhappiness
'Cause she was so beautiful She rebelled then one day the young girl fell in love with another man like her stepdad, he abused her emotionally and made her feel like she was worthless I hope one day that she realizes and sees the beauty in her eyes all she needs is parents strength 'cause she's beautiful Chorus Repeat-- w/ Beyonce saying in echo "I can't bear to see you cry one more time, It's not your fault what he did to you, you know, I promise you'll be ok, If your beautiful, Don't you know I love you girl, Your life has meaning Soon you'll be ok,-- Don't hold your head down low, You've got so much, so much, so much, so much, so much to be proud of
You can still live your life
I promise you, you'll survive girl love you you're beautiful