Josie,
you're my source of most frustration, Forget when I dont meet expectations
Everything you wished came true
In the end we all blamed you Even though, as they all know, you're not the only one (two three four)

Why do you still keep it around when you know it brings me down
I'm hating everything.
And I know that you dated other guys
But i got to wonder why you'd leave it out for me

Why am i still hanging around,
When I know it brings me down,
I'm hating everything.
And you are getting rides home in his car
Making out on his front yard
I'm hating everything.

Please dont remind me
Put your past behind me
It shines so bright it blinds me
i wish that this would end.
And i am not fine,
Last night i saw you online,
your screen name used to be mine, why cant we just pretend?

And if we can have another day, i've got so much left to say,
I'd tell you everything.
And I'll laugh when i think about the past,
When i see you after class you're hating everything.

Please dont remind me
put your past behind me
it shines so bright it blinds me
i wish that this would end
And i am not fine
Last night i saw you online
your screen name used to be mine why cant we just pretend

And she said, "I just forgot you were there"
