

Apple Shampoo - 1/1

Interprété par Blink 182.

she didn't mean to deceive you, believe me, but sometimes the hardest part is conceiving, the good intentions that you had, now only came to this, and although she saw the mark, the arrow missed, if it isn't exciting reciting the stories, of kind of words turned hurting when routine get boring, both gettin tired of punk rock clubs, and both playing in punk rock bands, the start was something good, but some good things must end, and she said it could never survive, with such, differing lives, one home one out on tour again, we may never come back, the strike of a match, the candle's burning at both ends, and now she knows to much, and i'm too fucked up, it's akward trying to make my move, i'll pretend that i'm fine, show up right on time, but i know i'll never be that cool, i never wanted to hold you back, i'm just trying to hold on, but my chance is gone, i know/ just where/ i stand/ a boy, trapped in the body of a man and, i'll take what you're willing to give, and i'll teach myself to live, with a walk-on part of a background shot, from a movie i'm not in, she's so important, and i'm so retarded, and now i realize, i should have kissed you in L.A., but i drove home all alone, as if i had a choice anyway, where are you coming from ? what are you running from ? is it so hard to see ? and if you're feeling scared, remember the time we shared, you know it meant everything (everything), you know it meant everything to me, you know that it meant everything to me