

South of the border - 1/1

Interprété par Robbie Williams.

I know a freaky young lady Name of Cocaine Katie She makes my temperature freeze She's got a blood red powder When she gives a shout She'll bring you to your knees

Well, we were being clever playing God games forever She said she only meant to please But I'm someone's brother, got a father and a mother You know I'm going to have to leave

South of the border I think you oughta South of the border I think you oughta

'cos you know you're gonna have to leave To a place where you can breahte And you know there's no reprieve

There'll be tears on leaving
But there won't be no grieving
'cos a city soon forgets
To me it's magic
To the landlord it's tragic
He's got another room let

There'll be the same old faces in the same old places Where my youth was well misspent But I tow the line and move the time To a town called 'No Regrets'

South of the border I think you oughta South of the border I think you oughta

'cos you know you're gonna have to leave To a place where you can breathe And you know there's no reprieve

'cos you know you're gonna have to leave To a place where you can breathe And you know there's no reprieve
