

And I - 1/1

Interprété par Boyzone.

it's been a while how have you been doing do you ever think about me and you and all the things we used to do the times that we shared well i've been looking for love and affection it's brought me back in your direction even though we've been apart your part of my soul ok i know (i know i was a fool)

a fool (To lose my faith in you) but girl before you go i want you to know that i think of you every day, baby and i can't seem to get away from these feelings and i, i need to tell you some how that i need your love right now looking back i can see things clearly the mistakes that i paid for dearly taking love for granted only leaves you alone well if we talked you would understand that time has made me a better man and with your love behind me there's nowhere i can't go so take a chance (just take a chance on me) and you'll see (it's where you need to be) if your heart it tells you so you'll know what i know right now is the time for both of us to put aside our differences and trust all the words i never used to say now i've found a way (now i've found a way) that i think of you every day, baby (i think of you, i think of you, baby) and i can't seem to get away from these feelings (i can't seem to, i can't seem to, get away, get away) and i, i need to tell you some how (some how) that i need your love (your love, right now, right now) that i think of you every day, baby (baby) and i can't seem to get away from these feelings (i can't seem.. From these feelings) and i, i need to tell you some how that i need your love right now i said i need your love right now.